CENTRAL AMERICAN CONFEDERATION PLANNED

MEXICO INDORSES MOVE

WASHINGTON, Dec 17.—Plans are afoot, it is believed, for the consummation of a confederation of the Central American republics.

Anderson was here as the representative of Costa Rica. In addition he was the candidate of Mexico for president of the proposed United States of Central America.

He left on receipt of a telegram and it was learned today that his destination was Cartago.

Central American diplomats fear there may be a conflagration while now there is only a blaze. In such case the governments most interested in the various countries would interfere, with the result that chaos would ensue and a new organization would be necessary all around.

It is believed that Dr. Anderson hurried south in anticipation of such an eventuality. He has the indorsement of Mexico, the most powerful near neighbor of Central America, and holds the confidence of at least two other states on the Isthmus

The Mexican government is committed to the amalgamation of the five fiery little republics on the Isthmus

Although the United States has been deliberately and studiously shying at the subject, it is understood that this government would not entertain any great enthusiasm over such a consolidation. It would mean that Mexico could exercise a far greater influence over such a group and that the United States would lose prestige.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—The United States ship Buffalo, now at Panama with 700 marines on board, has been ordered to sail at once for Corinto.

This action was taken today as a result of the telegram received from the United States consulate at Managua, stating that inasmuch as Zelaya in his message resigning the presidency had made unpleasant references to Americans and owing to a report current in that city that civilian adherents of Zelaya had been armed with daggers, the citizens of the United States there had appealed to the consulate for protection

President Taft has received a telegram from President Zelaya in which he admits that the message proposing an American commission investigation of conditions in Nicaragua was not sent to Secretary Knox, as he had stated in a public interview, but that the message was sent to the Nicaraguan charge, Mr. Rodriguez, for transmission to the secretary. The message however, was never received at the state department

TO DISCUSS PAVING

Property Owners and Others Invited to Conference at City Hall Monday Afternoon.

To interest taxpayers in paving, all property owners in the proposed paving districts and others are invited to attend a conference of the citizens committee of 11 and city officials in the City Hall Monday afternoon at 8 o'clock The merits of the various paving materials and the relative cost of each will be discussed

Manufacturers of the various kinds of paving to be discussed have been invited to send representatives to the meeting, and it is expected that this meeting will give property owners a thorough insight into the paving scheme The question of paving has been discussed for some time, but many taxpayers are still unfamiliar with the plan proposed for this city. Those attending the meeting will be invited to question the experts on any point pertinent to the paving plan.

COUNCIL PASSES SALARY ORDINANCE

IGNORES THE RECOMMENDATIONS OF MAYOR AVERY.

Spirited Argument, With Other Four Commissioners Arrayed Against Chief Executive.

Ignoring recommendations of Mayor H. F. Avery, in which he sought to equalize salaries in the various departments and secure higher wages for day laborers, the City Council yesterday afternoon passed the salary ordinance unamended, which will become effective December 31. Commissioners Lawton, Whitaker, Himebaught and Frost voted for the measure, the Mayor alone voting against it.

The ordinance cuts the salary of the city auditor from $125 to $100 a month and raises that of the deputy auditor from $80 to $85. It leaves the salaries of the city clerk, treasurer and water superintendent at $125 a month each. Mayor Avery recommended that the auditor's salary be not less than $125 a month, to conform to the other departments

The salary of the chief clerk of the water department was raised from $90 to $100 a month, and that of the meter inspector was reduced from $90 to $75. These are in accordance with the suggestions of the Mayor, and makes a net reduction of $5 a month in the water department.

The reading of Mayor Avery's recommendations in regard to salaries provoked a spirited argument in which the Mayor was arrayed against the other Commissioners. The Mayor contended that each commissioner is responsible to the taxpayers for every department, while the Commissioners claimed that the head of each department should be responsible for his own department He should be interested in all other departments, but should not keep "butting in" In short, the argument of the Commissioners was that they are tired of the Mayor trying to help them run their respective departments. It was intimated that since the Mayor was allowed a free hand in the water department, the heads of the other departments should have the same privileges

Mayor Avery recommended that the salary of day laborers be not less than $2 25 for an 8-hour day, instead of not less than $2, as provided by the ordinance His reason for this increase is the increased cost of living. He suggested that the office of police clerk be abolished, and the duties combined with those of police magistrate, with a salary is $100 a month This would mean a reduction of $85 a month He also suggested the abolition of one sergeant at $85 a month, and jailer at $80 a month This was hotly opposed by Commissioner Whitaker, head of the department of public safety and Whitaker said that it would be poor policy to make these reductions at present The idea of having the chief or captain sent out with the patrol wagon or ambulance did not make a big hit with the Commissioners.

Poke at Health Dept.

The Mayor also took a poke at the health department, suggesting that the health officer be required to spend at least four hours a day at the City Hall or else have his salary reduced from $1,500 to $1,000 a year

City Attorney McKesson was instructed to confer with Adolph Fehringer relative to securing the payment of claims against the Otto Fehringer estate Otto Fehringer was fined three times for the illegal sale of liquor, the fines amounting to $350 He appealed the cases to the supreme court, where the judgment of the lower court was sustained. Costs and interest bring the total to $630. Adolph Fehringer, administrator of the estate, has made an effort to effect a compromise He wishes to secure a reduction by settling the claim at once. Since the question has already been settled, the Council has no authority to make such a compromise, and is not inclined to take less than the full amount.

At the Council meeting yesterday morning, a letter was received from H. S. Braucher, secretary of the Playground Association of America. He offered the assistance of the associa-

5 SUGAR MEN GUILTY MERCY RECOMMENDED

Jury Disagrees in Case of Only Man "Higher Up" Involved in Conspiracy Case.

NEW YORK Dec 17—The jury tonight found guilty five of the six employes of the American Sugar Refining company who have been on trial for the last three weeks charged with criminal conspiracy to defraud the government of customs duties on imported raw sugar.

In the case of James F Bundermagel, a former cashier of the sugar company's Williamsburg plant, the jury disagreed

Mercy is recommended for all those found guilty

The jury was out 10 hours Under the indictment, Oliver Spitzer a dock superintendent, John R Coyle Thomas Kane Edward A Boyle and Patrick J Hennessy, checkers may be punished for the maximum conviction of two overt acts the maximum penalty for each of which is two years imprisonment and $5,000 fine

The failure to convict Cashier Bendernagel is regarded by the government as a distinct disappointment The effect of the prosecution has been to have the customs frauds already admitted to a higher figure and Bendernagel though not an employe of the company was employed with them and with whom was associated in many affairs in their dealings with the

MEMBERS OF HOUSE RAP EXECUTIVE OFFICERS

They Are Accused of "Criticising Without Cause" by Representative Mann.

DISTRICT SALARIES CUT

Colorado Representative Introduces Resolution Calling for Forest Reserve Data.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Denunciation of officials of the executive departments of the government who criticise without just cause, in a speech by Representative Mann, Illinois, and another speech of similar tenor by Representative Fitzgerald, New York, in which the latter said, "A certain distinguished official" was responsible therefor because of the bad example he set for his subordinates, enlivened an otherwise dull session of the House today. It was understood generally that Mr. Fitzgerald had former President Roosevelt in mind.

The District of Columbia appropriation bill was read, but was not put upon its passage and will be taken up again Monday.

Some saving was effected by reducing appropriations for increases in salaries for district offices or by eliminating altogether paragraphs making provision for new offices.

Representative Macon, Arkansas, again assumed the role of the "watchdog of the treasury" and made points of order against several sections of the bill, and not wholly without success

Rather unexpectedly the House agreed to insert in the bill an amendment appropriating $17,000 for playgrounds for children of the district

Near the close of the day Representative Mann made an attack upon Mr. Tweedale, auditor of the district, for criticising the government in public speeches. He said if that official had made the statements attributed to him he ought to be discharged

The Senate was not in session today.

Would Reduce Forest Reserves.

With a view to reducing forest reserve administration expenses, eliminating nonforest lands from the forest reserves and throwing open to entry all lands more valuable for agriculture mining and grazing than for timber, embraced in the reserves, Representative Martin of Colorado today introduced a resolution calling on the secretary of the interior for comprehensive data regarding forest reserve areas

Representative Taylor of Colorado introduced a bill to grant to the state of Colorado by the federal government one million acres of public lands lying within and without the forest reserves of that state, to be sold at the rate of $5 per acre to settlers in 160-acre lots, proceeds to be devoted to maintaining the public highways of that state. The disposition of the land is under the direction of the state land board of Colorado.

Charges of corruption against members of Congress and of the subsidizing of newspapers for and against ship subsidy, which have been made in various American newspapers and periodicals are recounted in a resolution introduced in the House today by Representative Hardy of Texas, who demands a congressional investigation He asks that a committee of two Democrats and four Republicans three opposed to a ship subsidy and three favoring it be named to inquire into the subject and learn to what extent money had been spent by those favoring and opposing ship subsidy and to what extent newspaper writers and lobbyists have been hired, if any The resolution says Serious charges have been made against the honesty

DAILY DIET HINTS

By DR. T. J. ALLEN
Food Specialist.

PREPARATION FOR LUNCH.

Pepsin, used as an aid to digestion, is obtained by placing food before hungry pigs so that they cannot reach it and, after they have tried for some minutes to reach it, killing them and collecting the secretion in the stomach. Without considering whether the product so obtained is uncontaminated by the bad mental state of the animals or the advisability of using an artificial digestant, does not this indicate the importance of preparation for a meal? The boy who growls for ten minutes before dinner is ready in the kitchen, is not making good preparation for his afternoon's work at school, and the stenographer who rushes from the typewriter to the quick lunch room next door is preparing for a course in a sanitarium, sooner or later, according to her hereditary endowment, her habits otherwise and the length of time such practice is continued. Drop all thought of work when the lunch hour arrives, walk at least ten minutes outdoors, looking at distant objects, as far as possible, and occupying the mind pleasantly. When seated, relax and draw long breaths, fixing the attention in pleasant expectation on the meal.

SCHOOL ELECTION TO BE HELD JAN. 22

BOARD CANCELS OLD CALL; SETS NEW DATE.

Many Teachers Granted Contracts. Temporary Agreements Also Signed—Routine Business.

The school board met at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, rescinded the call for an election today, upon a proposed bond issue of $250,000, and issued another call for January 22 Although the flaw in the first call was so slight a matter as the use of the word 'and' instead of or the board decided to run no risk of future trouble in disposing of the bonds

The amount of bonds and all other features, with the exception of the one to which exception was taken by the bonding companies are identical with those of the old call The new election, however will be unique from the fact that two ballot-boxes will be furnished, and each voter will be allowed to cast a ballot in each One ballot will be upon the question as to whether bonds shall be issued for the additional land needed, and the other will be upon the question of bonds for the erection of additional buildings

If either one of these questions is carried, and the other lost, the position of the school board will be deplorable There will be but one polling place which will be at the High School Votes may be cast between 10 and 6 o'clock

BELGIUM IN MOURNING FOR DEPARTED SOVEREIGN

Prince Albert Will Take Oath of Succession Day After Late King's Funeral.

LEOPOLD'S WILL IS FILED

Gives $3,000,000 to His Daughters, Marriage to Baroness Vaughan Confirmed.

BRUSSELS Dec 17—The entire kingdom of Belgium mourns its departed ruler, Leopold II. Courts, schools and theaters are closed parliament and the municipal council have adjourned and flags are at half mast in every city, town and village of the kingdom out of respect for the dead monarch.

Under the constitution the affairs of the nation are in the control of the cabinet until Prince Albert takes the oath of succession next Thursday, the day after the funeral of his uncle.

The king has expressed a wish for the simplest funeral rites but it is understood the ceremonial observed at the burial of his father, Leopold I will be followed.

An official decree issued today lauds King Leopold's career and declares his creation of the Congo independent state was unique in history. "Posterity will judge Leopold a great king with a grand reign," it says

The body remains in the mortuary chamber of "The Palms" where it was viewed by thousands today. Tomorrow evening it will be removed to the palace in Brussels. The face of the dead ruler will not be exposed again to public view.

Gave Daughters $3,000,000

The filing of the will of King Leopold today shows that he divided $3,000,000 between his three daughters Princess Louise, Princess Stephanie and Princess Clementine This practically disinherits his daughters

The exact extent of Leopold's fortune probably never will be revealed Senator Winer, the king's financial confidential legal adviser told the Associated Press today that Leopold turned over a considerable portion of it to the Baroness Vaughan and her children and created a stock company of his estate in order to forestall a possible raid upon it by the Princesses Louise and Stephanie or their creditors

If it is established that the Baroness Vaughan is of foreign birth she probably will be expelled from Belgium, like the favorite of Leopold I the Baroness Mayer, whose house was sacked and destroyed by a mob after the king's death

Under the Belgian law a parent is not permitted to bequeath more than a quarter of his belongings away from his children and reports are current tonight that counsel for Princess Louise already has made the first move toward a legal contest

Refused to See Stephanie.

Princess Louise, of Belgium, eldest of the three daughters, arrived here today The second daughter, the unfortunate Stephanie, was here when her father died but was refused the permission to see him till after the chamber she threw herself beside the body in a state of uncontrollable grief Prince Albert, the new king, was moved with pity, and, seizing his cousin's hand knelt with her, giving mute expression to his sympathy for and intended protection of the banished daughter

Contest Over Succession Possible.

A contest over the succession to the throne of Belgium is possible. The Vatican is reported to have confirmed the marriage a year ago of King Leopold and Baroness Vaughan. Two sons are said to have been born from this union and both survive The elder is Lucian, five years old. It is reported he will claim the throne. Prince Albert the heir presumptive, is a nephew of Leopold II.

PARIS Dec 17—A dispatch from Rome says that the Vatican confirms the marriage of King Leopold and Baroness Vaughan, at San Remo, Italy last year

PARIS Dec 17—A dispatch to the Matin from Budapest says that Princess Louise left Budapest for Brussels at 1 o'clock this (Saturday) morning after having telegraphed Prince Albert and Princess Clementine of her intention to visit the capital

By Frederic J. Haskin.

Wherever there lives a descendant of that brave little party of Pilgrims who braved the perils of an ocean voyage in a tiny craft and faced the dangers of a primeval country in order that they might worship God in their own way next Wednesday, December 22 will be celebrated the two hundred and eighty-ninth anniversary of the arrival at Plymouth Rock Perhaps no little boatload of people in the history of the world has accomplished more or contributed more to civilization than those Pilgrims Certainly the records of no such small band of people have been better or more carefully kept, and the fact that millions perhaps, claim to trace their ancestry to the passengers of the Mayflower bears eloquent witness to the honor the world bestows upon the little band of devout religionists.

Someone has had the patience to keep a running account of the furniture and other equipment which it is claimed, came over in the Mayflower and he calculates that it would fill the holds of the Mauretania and the Lusitania, with a good-sized cargo left over. And yet the Mayflower was a boat of only 180 tons burden So widespread were the claims of passage through the Mayflower passengers that the General Society of Mayflower Descendants was organized in 1894 for the principal purpose of separating the true from the false among those who claimed that they had descended from some passenger of the Mayflower. That many false claims are made is well known, but there are thousands who can trace their ancestry through an unbroken line of eight or 10 generations back to the Mayflower Pilgrims.

The society has done much toward checking the innumerable claims to Mayflower descent. The person who desires to become a member of that organization, if he has any ground for his claim, is given every opportunity to prove his lineage, and if he succeeds, all is well, if he does not, there is probably no color at all to his pretensions, as the records preserved by the society enable this matter to be determined with a high degree of accuracy.

One of the most interesting things shown by the records of the Society of Mayflower Descendants is how generations of different families may fail to keep step with one another In these records one may see as contemporaries of the same age, one person seventh from Elder Brewster, and another person tenth from the same Elder Brewster It is probable that the majority of the present Mayflower descendants, so far as membership in the society is concerned, are of the eighth generation from the original Pilgrims, and that the children represent the ninth generation. Counting the average as the ninth, it will be found that the average generation since the Mayflower is slightly over 32 years.

Modeled After U. S. Government.

The General Society of Mayflower Descendants is modeled after the plan of the United States government State societies may be organized whenever there are enough members to justify it They have the privilege of enacting any rules or laws which do not conflict with those of the general society. They are represented in the activities of the general organization in proportion to their membership, and in general bear the same relation to the general society that the states bear toward the Federal government.

One of the president Mayflower descendants says that the Pilgrims were fortunate in their historians; that they not only made history, but wrote it themselves, in order that it might pass down to posterity in proper form To this he attributes the advantage they have in history over the Dutch The settlers of New York did things just as well as those at Plymouth Rock, but they were men of silence, little concerned about the perpetuation of their deeds in historical annals

It is recorded that the first use of the written ballot in America was in 1629, when the Puritans of Salem organized themselves into a Separatist church, and elected their officers by ballot Another interesting feature about the organization of this church is the fact that its whole creed was told in a single sentence: "We covenant with the Lord, and with one another, and do bind ourselves in the presence of God to walk together in all his ways, according as he is pleased to reveal himself unto us in his blessed word of truth"

The most far-reaching result of the Pilgrims' work was the town meeting instituted by them—a typical pure democracy. From the town meeting grew the constitution of the State of Connecticut, which was written in the study of Parson Thomas Hooker It is claimed that from this instrument came the germinal ideas of the Constitution of the United States Virginia also had a representative form of government in its house of burgesses lumbia now have state associations of Mayflower descendants and their total, membership is well up into the thousands It has been calculated that if in each generation there were three children to marry and each of these in turn have three to marry, the tenth generation might number about 4,500,000 In other words one-sixteenth of the native born population of the United States might trace at least one strain of blood back to the Mayflower Each person has 1024 ancestors of the tenth generation unless there has been intermarriage somewhere along the line It follows therefore that every person whose ancestry is of native stock stands a good show of having somewhere touched the Mayflower passenger list Furthermore each individual who traces his ancestry back 10 generations will find that barring intermarriage he has 2046 ancestors in the 10 generations If any of those has been a Mayflower passenger, or the descendant of one, the individual becomes eligible as a Mayflower descendant.

The determination of the Pilgrims to make their history-affecting voyage to Plymouth Rock was largely a matter of chance. An independent church, composed mainly of simple country folk, was formed in 1606 in Scrooby, Nottinghamshire. At its head was John Robinson, the pastor, of whom it has been said that it was hard to judge which was the more delighted, he in having such a people or they in having such a pastor. William Brewster, who was postmaster at Scrooby, was a member, and so was William Bradford, afterward governor of the colony of Plymouth, and the historian of the Pilgrims.

Persecutions at the hands of the king's officers followed the organization of the church. One attempt to flee was frustrated, but, after a second attempt, they were able to get to Holland, where they settled at Leyden in 1609 For eleven years they prospered, and their number was increased to a thousand souls. But their surroundings were not congenial, and the question of moving to America came up. The casualties of the seas, the length of the voyage, the miseries of the land, the cruelty of the savages, the expense of the outfit, the ill success of other colonies, and their own sad experience were reasons urged against going to America But the advocates of the venture prevailed, and, having decided to go somewhere, where should it be?

Some favored Guiana, "whose rich feet were mines of gold and whose forehead knocked against the roof of the stars" Others favored Virginia, and in due time "Virginia" was decided upon The proceedings that finally ended in the chartering of the Speedwell, and afterward the Mayflower, were undertaken, and, after many adventures, financial, religious, seafaring—of every kind, December 22, 1620 saw them landed on "Virginia soil that turned out to be Massachusetts

PAY LICENSES EARLY

Three Automobile Owners Surprise Deputy City Clerk Smith With 1910 Fees.

"I want to pay my automobile license for next year," said a well-dressed man to Deputy City Clerk C. P. Smith yesterday noon.

"Sir," gasped the astonished official, as he reached out for a chair or a table—anything to help him keep his balance. "But licenses aren't due until January 1."

"I thought I'd drop around and pay before I forgot about it," explained the automobile owner.

The fee was accepted. A few minutes later Mr. Smith had another shock, for a second auto owner paid next year's license. By the time the third arrival he had recovered his mental balance and raked in the money with the air of "I do this all the time."

PRESENTED A FLAG

The James Noble chapter of the Children of the American Revolution was entertained yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Oliver H. Shoup, 1715 North Nevada avenue, at a "Boston Tea Party." At the conclusion of a patriotic program, those present participated in a genuine old-fashioned tea party.

Special features of the occasion were the presentation of a flag, the gift of Mrs. Dalton, to the chapter by Mrs. F. W. Goddard, regent of the Zebulon Pike chapter of the D. A. R., and the gift of a replica of the bronze tablet which commemorates the spot where the Boston tea party took place, from Frank Harvey Puthwell. Music enlivened the program. Mrs. John Speed Tucker singing solos and Mrs. William W. Price playing piano numbers.

A POLICEMAN'S TESTIMONY

J. N. Patterson, night policeman of Nashua, Iowa, writes: "Last winter I had a bad cold on my lungs and tried at least half a dozen advertised cough medicines without getting any benefit. A friend recommended Foley's Honey and Tar and two-thirds of a bottle cured me. I consider it the greatest cough and lung medicine in the world."

600 INVITATIONS SENT

As a fitting ending for the big day which the Elks will provide for the poor children of the city, the management of the Crystal theater will turn over the entire afternoon's performance for the benefit of the 600 children who will be the guests of the Elks on Christmas morning. Each little guest, as he leaves the Elks home, will be given a large horn and a ticket to the theater. The street car company has offered free tickets for the children and each invitation is accompanied by these tickets.

The hearty co-operation of the various charitable organizations has made possible for the committee to get the lists ready in good shape, and instead of the 500 which were first planned on, over 600 invitations were addressed last night. The committee is working hard on the affair and have the day's program complete. It will consist in the band concert by the Elks band, from 10 to 10:30 o'clock, the big vaudeville act from 10:30 to 11:30 o'clock, and the Christmas tree from that time until noon. A temporary stage will be constructed for the vaudeville, and although the acts have not been announced, those in charge state that the talent will be of the top notch variety. The Christmas tree is to be decorated by a corps of experts in this line, and will be loaded with presents for the youngsters.

JOHNSON BACKS DOWN BUT DEADLOCK STILL EXISTS IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

NEW YORK, Dec. 17.—After taking three ballots, which showed a continuance of the deadlock of yesterday, the third session of the annual meeting of the National Baseball league adjourned this evening until tomorrow morning. The three ballots stood: For John M. Ward, 4, for W. R. Brown of Louisville, 4.

The most significant feature of the meeting was the introduction by Garry Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati club, of a telegram from Ban B. Johnson, president of the American league, which was as follows:

"The American league club owners have left New York. This should indicate forcibly to you and your colleagues that we do not wish to interfere or embarrass in the slightest degree your organization in the election of an officer."

When Herrmann read this telegram, John T. Brush, who had been brought from his apartments to the meeting in an invalid's chair, moved: "That Mr. Johnson's telegram, in which he recedes from his position, be accepted and given to the press.

This was carried unanimously, and, after the four-hour session was over, President Ebbetts of the Brooklyn club announced that it was the sense of the eight magnates that Ban Johnson had receded from his avowal not to sit on the National commission if Ward were elected president of the National league, a position he assumed as an ardent advocate of the re-election of John A. Heydler. Ebbetts announced further that if the eight presidents could not break the deadlock, they must either appoint a regency, such as formerly existed, or appoint one of their number to act as president. He insisted that the meeting yesterday did not by resolution amend the by-laws whereby, in the event of a vacancy in the presidency, the board of directors should elect an acting president.

On the other hand, Horace Fogel, the new president of the Philadelphia club, said this morning that the by-laws were so amended. Such a resolution, if adopted, would give the Heydler forces control, for the board of directors is composed of Herrmann, Cincinnati; Dreyfus, Pittsburg; Dover, Boston; Murphy, Chicago, and Ebbets, Brooklyn. The first three are pledged to Heydler.

The vote for Brown is not taken seriously, only two of the club owners knowing him personally. Heydler is not considered out of the race. The Herrmann-Dreyfus faction still insists that they are for him if there is a chance for him to win. If not, they are for anyone except Ward. As opposed to this, the Murphy followers say they will not vote for anyone but Ward.

It is rumored that Stanley Robison of St. Louis can obtain sufficient players to make an almost pennant-winning club, if he will vote for either Ward or Heydler. His manager, Roger Bresnahan, has been very busy among the players in the corridors.

Brush of New York and Murphy of Chicago are said to have made enticing offers of players to Robison, if he will vote for Ward. Horace Fogel and the Philadelphia club has ceased to be a mystery. Fogel now admits that he is irrevocably attached to Murphy of Chicago, and that he will vote as does Murphy.

ROUTE MAPPED OUT FOR JEFF AND GOTCH DOESN'T LOOK SO TOUGH TO JACK CURLEY

By Ed. W. Smith.

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—"Yes, I'm the fellow that did the booking. I'm the man who has inflicted this awful tour on Jeffries and Gotch and the other tender buds that are being nursed along for coming championship matches. Yes there's no way out of it. I've go to take all the blame for it.

And then Jack Curley, advance man for the Frazee combination of heavyweight stars let out a long horse laugh. Jack landed in the city the other night for a couple of days on the trail he needed to get a new start in his scheming. Curley didn't seem to think there was anything so terrible about the route that he had framed up for the Jeffries combination until he began to read about how the big fellows had been taken sick and saw the route in cold type in yesterday's American. Then he weakened a bit.

"That is a pretty tough route, to be sure," he said as he skimmed his eye over the list of dates and made a swift mental calculation as to the distance involved. "Yes, the more I look at it the tougher it gets, especially when you think of the hotels one meets in the course of that sort of traveling. But, on the other hand, there is the advance agent's side of it, too; don't forget that. The advance agent's side is the same as that of the nerve manager of this enterprise, the manager who has a salary list of $4,500 every week. Don't overlook him.

"In order to meet this staggering item, the manager must do some tall and fancy hustling to get the coin in. When the expense of that special Pullman car and all of the other bills are considered, remember that there must be little tarrying on the way. That salary list goes right along whether we get work for the athletes or not."

THOMPSON WINS FROM FIGHTING DICK HYLAND

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 17.—After 10 rounds of furious fighting "Cyclone" Johnny Thompson of Sycamore, Ill., was awarded the decision over "Fighting Dick" Hyland of San Francisco tonight. Thompson really deserved the verdict. He rushed the battle from the start, and forced Hyland into clinches time after time.

I slug him [illegible] now to good effect, the Sycamore farmer fattened the Pacific coast boy repeatedly. Had Hyland been a fighter of slower recuperative power he would have been knocked out in the fifth round. Twice, with hard right swings to the jaw, Thompson sent his man to the canvas. The first time Hyland took the count of eight, and the second knockdown kept him down nine seconds. He came back strong, however, and, although Thompson tried hard to land a knockout punch, he failed.

COLORADO CITY WINS

High School Five Takes Basketball Contest From Pueblo Team by Score of 23 to 22.

The Colorado City High school basketball team defeated the Central High school team last night in Mack's hall by the score of 23 to 22, in one of the hardest-fought games ever witnessed in the city. There was some discussion over the game, the Pueblo team stating that two points were necessary to win, and the Colorado City boys asserting that a foul throw of theirs was interfered with. The game was fierce, although clean, and the speedy work of the local forwards was enough to offset the weight of the visitors. The two teams will probably play a match game in Pueblo after the holidays.

The teams lined up as follows:

Colorado City.	Pueblo
Fosterman,
Frisch..... f	Rudrauff, Jones
Jamison, Courtwright,
Shackleford..... g	Pressly, Martel

The High School sophomores defeated the freshmen, 26 to 25, in a basketball game at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon.

BURNS WANTS TO SEE MAGNET ROCK BOOKS

District Judge J. W. Sheafor yesterday granted an alternative writ of mandamus to James F. Burns, ordering the Colorado Title and Trust company to permit him to examine the books of the Magnet Rock Gold Mining company, or show cause December 22 why this should not be done. The Colorado Title and Trust company is the local agent of the company and has refused to permit Mr. Burns, who owns 18,000 shares of stock, to inspect the books, because he has not presented authority from the management.

Mr. Burns says that his action is not the start of a fight for control. He merely wants to see in what condition the company is. He says it has held no annual meeting for several years. The company was formerly controlled by Edsall, Key and company, which went out of business some time ago. Clarence Edsall, who is in Chicago, was president and John J. Key, now of Denver, was secretary-treasurer. The company owns property on Beacon hill and is listed on the stock exchange as a prospect.

A sprained ankle will usually disable the injured person for three or four weeks. This is due to lack of proper treatment. DOGS OFFERED TO DENVER

Daughters of Late General Palmer Will Give Valuable Animals to Park Commission.

Gelert and Barbara, two Great Danes, who during the lifetime of General William J Palmer were his constant companions, are to go to Denver, if that city wants them. The offer of the dogs has been made to Jacob Fillius, president of the Denver park commission, through C. U. Fohn, head caretaker at Glen Eyrie, acting for Mrs. Leopold Hamilton Meyers and Miss Palmer, daughters of General Palmer. Gelert cost $650, and Barbara, $260. The animals are to be turned over to the Denver park commission with the understanding that they are given the best of care through their lifetime.

Exposure to Wet, dampness and cold, invariably results in a sudden chill, which if not attended to immediately will cause a cold. By mixing a teaspoonful of Perry Davis' Painkiller in half a glass of warm water or milk, the whole system will be heated and the danger of cold avoided. Avoid substitutes, there is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis. Price 25c, 35c and 50c.

PLANS PUBLIC FOR BIG COPPER MERGER

UTAH COMPANY TO BE HOLDING CORPORATION.

Capital Stock to Be Increased to $25,000,000, With Local Men at Head.

The Utah Copper company, formed and controlled by C. M. MacNeill and Spencer Penrose, of this city, is soon to take over the properties of the Boston Consolidated Mines company at Bingham, Utah, and the Nevada Consolidated Mining company at Ely, Nevada. This means the consolidation of some of the most important copper companies in the country with local men at the head. The stockholders of the Utah Copper company will meet January 6, to authorize an increase in the capital stock from 750,000 to 2,500,000 shares, for the purpose of acquiring the property. The basis of the deal is one share of Utah for two and one-half shares of Boston, and such shares of Nevada Consolidated Copper company as may accept, but not less than a majority, on a basis of one share of Utah for two and one-quarter shares of Nevada.

The official plan of merging the Guggenheim copper interests came out yesterday. A portion of the Utah stock will be used to increase the output of the company.

The capital stock of the Utah Copper company will be increased from $7,500,000 to $25,000,000. The latter figure is very low, as the present market value of the properties included in the merger is estimated at $130,000,000. The officers of the amalgamated companies will be: C. M. MacNeill, president; Spencer Penrose, treasurer, and D. C. Jackling of Salt Lake City, vice president and general manager.

RETIRED ADMIRAL IS VISITING SON HERE

Colvocoresses Intimates Army and Navy Approve Knox's Conduct Nicaraguan Situation.

Lieutenant H. Colvocoresses, retired, of 1524 North Nevada avenue, is entertaining his father, Admiral Colvocoresses, United States navy, retired, of Litchfield, Conn., who will probably remain for some time.

Admiral Colvocoresses' last active duty was in the war with Spain, he serving as executive officer of the gunboat Concord at the battle of Manila, being later transferred to Admiral Dewey's flagship Olympia. After several months in the Philippines, he was transferred to stations in this country pending his retirement. His service in the navy numbered 39 years, during which time he visited nearly every port in the world.

The former navy officer would talk little of current events. He intimated, however, that Secretary Knox, in his conduct of the Nicaraguan situation, is meeting with the approval of the naval and military officers.

Of the Cook-Peary controversy, he advised the withholding of judgment until the University of Copenhagen has come to a conclusion regarding Dr. Cook's records of his polar trip.

"RICKERSON VS. MADDEN"

Biff! Biff! Slam!
Right on the point of the nose!
Hit him again! Watch his right!

Sounds of this nature issued from the district clerk's office yesterday afternoon in the court house, and Sheriff Bradfield came running from his office in the far end of the hall, ready to quell any disturbance. At his heels, with their artillery within reaching distance, trailed a pair of deputies. A few minutes later it was whispered in the court room that a boxing bout was on in the district clerk's office. Judge Sheafor adjourned court, and it is said that he was among "those present" at the scrap.

The excitement was short lived. O. E. Rickerson, Jr., and M. I. Madden were trying out two pairs of boxing gloves, much to the edification of the crowd that gathered. When the two were winded, Ed Stith, also of the district clerk's office, then put on the gloves with one of the newspaper men, and was declared victor in a three-minute round.

TO DRILL FOR OIL AT RAMAH, THIS COUNTY

A syndicate of Ramah and Denver men is preparing to drill in the neighborhood of Ramah, El Paso county, for oil. It is understood that they have $10,000 at hand, and will drill to a depth of 3,000 feet to strike oil, if necessary.

Ramah lies about 50 miles northeast of this city, and good surface indications of oil have been found in that vicinity. The syndicate is composed of Edward N. Burt and Fred A. Young of Denver, and State Representative Lem Gammon, of Ramah. They have incorporated under the title, The Ramah Oil company.

The company has let contracts for expert well drillers and machinery, and expect to start active work as soon as the weather moderates. Attention was first called to the oil by its collection on pools in the vicinity. Experts were called in, and after a careful examination, stated that there is little doubt that a good grade of oil will be found. The backers of the enterprise expect to tap a flow sometime next summer or fall.

New Local Boarding School for Boys May Be Opened Next September.

The boarding school for boys, to be conducted in this city under the auspices of the Episcopal church, is an assured fact. A total of $21,400 has been pledged for its support, leaving to be pledged only $1,600. Of the money given thus far, $18,000 is for the guarantee fund, and the remainder for the working fund of the institution. The Rev. Gibson Bell, of Concord, N. H., has been named as head master for the school, and the plans are to open the school next September, if possible. For the first year it will be conducted in the Austin Bluffs residence of Dean W. C. Sturgis of Colorado College School of Forestry.

The Rev. Gibson Bell has already selected some of the instructors, and toward the latter part of this month, the directors of the new school will issue a small booklet, explaining its object. This booklet will contain a picture of the school building. The trustees in charge are: Dean W. C. Sturgis, who is at present in Europe; George A. Fowler, acting chairman; Irving Bonbright, Dunbar F. Carpenter, H. Livingston Center, Leonard E. Curtis and the Rev. A. N. Tart, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal church.

DIES AFTER WRECK, BUT NOT INJURED

DENVER MAN EXPIRES ON WAY TO HOSPITAL.

Two men were slightly injured yesterday morning in a wreck of Denver and Rio Grande train No. 16, when it went through an open switch near the local depot, and Benjamin Gould, of Denver, who was a passenger, died a short time later while in an ambulance on his way to St. Francis hospital. His death was not due to injuries, however, as he became ill with acute nephritis, on leaving Pueblo, and became unconscious soon afterward. Persons who saw the ambulance conveying him from the scene of the wreck, thought he had been hurt there. The two men injured are James Temple of Denver, and the train porter, both of them being slightly bruised. Considerable merchandise in box cars, consigned to local stores for the Christmas trade, was smashed by the impact of the passenger engine.

Just prior to the arrival of the passenger train, a Rock Island switching crew had been using the main line track. When it was time for them to clear this track, the switchmen run their engine upon a switch, while in some manner the switch was allowed to remain open. As a result, when the passenger train came along it, swerved from the main line and crashed into the loaded box car coupled to the front of the switch engine.

The pilots on both engines were smashed, but passengers on the Denver and Rio Grande train escaped a severe shaking up, the two men mentioned being the only ones injured. The damage to the rolling stock is estimated at $1,000. The main line was not obstructed.

Conductor Lyman and Engineer Shanley were in charge of the passenger train, and Conductor Curen and Engineer Cuthbertson, of the Rock Island switch engine. The private car of John J. Enright, superintendent of motive power of the Denver and Rio Grande railroad, was attached to the passenger train at the time of the accident.

Mr. Gould, who died so shortly after leaving the train, was accompanied by Ellery Stewell, a friend who had the body taken to Denver on a later train, for burial. Gould was interested in the American Quarry company operating near Salida.

Holman, night watchman at the Golden Cycle mill. The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from the Doyle undertaking rooms. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

FATHER OF TELLER COUNTY SHERIFF DEAD

According to advises from St Louis, Mo, Major Benjamin von Phul, member of one of the oldest families there, and father of Sheriff Henry von Phul of Teller county, committed suicide yesterday by shooting himself in the head. He was 70 years old, and insomnia is given as the cause of the shooting. His divorced wife, with the two sons, Henry and Benjamin von Phul, live in Cripple Creek.

Sheriff von Phul with Benjamin von Phul, who is the jailer at the county jail of Teller county, passed through this city last night on their way to St Louis, where they will take charge of the body of their father. A daughter of the dead man, by a former marriage, lives in St Louis.

Major von Phul served through the Civil war with the Confederates, and made a magnificent record for himself. His father and grandfather were also soldiers.

The dead man was an uncle of "Stoney" von Phul, one of the young society men of St Louis, who recently won the Lieutenant Lahm cup for long-distance endurance balloon racing.

STAMP SALES SLOW

Inclement Weather and Seeming Lack of Interest Retard Most Deserving Movement.

Inclement weather and seeming lack of interest are beginning to discourage Secretary F J Bruno of the Associated Charities who has charge of the Red Cross stamp sale in the city. These stamp proceeds, which will go toward the establishment of a free sanitarium for poor consumptives in the city, are not being disposed of as rapidly as it was thought they would be, in spite of the fact that they cost but 1 cent each.

"Colorado Springs at present has absolutely no place to care for poor tubercular patients, with the exception of a tent at the poor farm, which will accommodate two persons," said Mr. Bruno yesterday; "the establishment of this hospital is a matter of very great importance to residents of the city."

By last night, 60,000 stamps had been sold. The sale will be continued until the night of December 24. Of the proceeds, 66 2-3 per cent will apply to the fund being raised for the establishment of a hospital here, and 33 1-3 per cent will go to the state association for the prevention and control of tuberculosis.

"Sixteen states and territories of the United States provide no place where the poor consumptive can be treated, except in jails and insane asylums. This statement together with another, to the effect that not one in 30 of the victims of consumption who want to get in hospitals can find a place there, a fact which will mean a loss to the country of $1,275,000,000 is made by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis in a bulletin issued today."

News of Local Courts

The will of August Uthoff was admitted to probate in the county court yesterday. The estate is valued at $7,800.

The will of Anna Mary Wiedemann was yesterday filed for probate in the county court.

Because he whistled yesterday when Police Magistrate Starrett fined him $15 and costs for drunkeness, Chas. Smith, a steam fitter, was given an additional fine of $5. The court later remitted the costs. Smith paid his fine.

In police court yesterday morning, Albert Dahl and T. A. Williams were each fined $10 and costs for being drunk.

District Judge J W Shedfor yesterday took under advisement the suit of H A Mills against the J A Sill estate to recover the value of 16,000 shares of stock in the Cripple Creek Consolidated Mining company, which, it is charged, Mr Sill had wrongfully converted to his personal use.

A J Williams, colored, was yesterday fined $10 and costs in police court for drunkeness and disturbance.

Humane Officer Neff has been instructed by Commissioner Whitaker to investigate a report that nine burros, owned by W. H. Harris, proprietor of the Halfway House on Pikes Peak, have been turned adrift on the mountains this winter. The animals are starving, according to C. C. Dee Reynolds, caretaker at Lake Moraine.

John Cameron, who was arrested on a charge of nonsupport preferred by his wife some time ago, yesterday appeared before the county commissioners and alleged that his wife is insane. The commissioners decided to send the couple back to their former home in Mt. Vernon, Mo.

The police have declared war against cheap lodging houses. Fred Miller, who runs a house of this kind at 22 East Huerfano street, was brought in police court yesterday morning on a charge of conducting a disorderly house. The case was continued to this morning. William Robinson and John Thomas, arrested at Miller's house, were fined $5 and costs each for drunkenness and disturbance. Conditions in the house are said to be wretched. Police Chief Armstrong and Fire Chief McCart yesterday investigated the building with a view of condemning it.

Waltham Watches

A Warning

The Waltham Watch Company in order to preserve the reputation of their watches and in order also to protect the people who buy Waltham Watches, hereby warn every one intending to buy a good watch, Waltham or any other, that it is not safe to buy a watch by catalogue from any of the mail order houses.

Buy a watch from a jeweler or watchmaker—because—a professional watchmaker before he delivers you the watch you have bought will overhaul it, correct any damage that may have happened to it, see that it is properly oiled, and in short, get it running right and keep it right. The retail jeweler's own reputation is at stake when he sells you a watch.

Waltham Watch Company

N. B. When buying a watch always ask your jeweler for a Waltham adjusted to temperature and position.

THE PASSING OF LEOPOLD.

THE best commentary on the value of such a life as that of King Leopold is found in the expressions inspired by his illness and death. Nowhere is there a word of appreciation and sympathy, the dead monarch is given credit for unbounded courage in all things and for remarkable business sagacity, but here the commendation ends. The darker phases of his life and character form the principal theme. His heartless cruelty toward his wife and two daughters, the utter shamelessness of his private life, and the unspeakable barbarities of his rule in the Congo are pictures too indelibly stamped on the public mind to be effaced even in the hour of his death.

King Leopold long ago sacrificed the respect and affection of his people, and the result is seen now when, on the announcement of his passing, Brussels officially put on mourning but privately remained utterly indifferent. If the truth were known it is probable that most patriotic Belgians are secretly glad that the long rule of Leopold is at an end. Judged by most standards it has been a good rule for the country, for the King possessed rare executive ability and a degree of financial skill that amounted to genius. He encouraged the development of industries and made Belgium an important commercial country. Considering only the question of profits, his rule in central Africa was a success, and he has bequeathed to the Belgian nation a colony of immense value.

But his private life was so outrageously at variance with all accepted standards of morality that it brought constant reproach on his people. In America or England—indeed, in almost any European country except Belgium—such a life would not be tolerated in a ruler for six months, and the one who attempted to lead it would find himself without a throne. But Leopold kept up his miserable imitation of Charles II and Louis XIV through all the adult years of his long life, and for exactly forty-four years of that time he ruled as King of the Belgians.

A LIFE OF UTTER DEPRAVITY.

He hounded his wife to her grave, banished two of his daughters because they would not condone his open infidelities, and on his deathbed refused even to see them. But worst of all, he established in his African possessions a system of tortures more indescribably fiendish than were practiced in the days of the Spanish Inquisition—and he did it all for money. The bones of thousands of African natives who were starved or tortured or executed outright remain a mute witness to the efficacy of Leopold's methods of collecting rubber and ivory, and if this is not enough there remain hundreds of natives, still living but each with one hand chopped off as punishment for their failure to bring in their allotted share of the products that made him one of the richest men in the world.

King Leopold was an anachronism. He was as completely out of place in the Twentieth Century as the Duke of Alva would be, or, comparing him with another ruler whom he resembled in a different way, Louis XIV "The Sultan of Versailles." Whatever may be the material benefits that come to a nation from the rule of such a man, it is plain that the general effect is altogether bad. It is only the hypocrites that are expressing sympathy and respect over the death of this most inhuman of modern monarchs.

COMPROMISING WITH EVIL.

PRESIDENT TAFT, in his recent round-the-country tour, called public attention to the function of compromise in the development of democratic government, emphasizing the fact that in their last analysis all steps in advance are nothing less than compromises. The idealist has a Utopian vision; he knows or thinks he knows what should be brought about for the sake of the greatest good to the greatest number. But he can not hope to see it realized in its entirety. Every element of the population, if not every individual, has its own idea of what should be done, and what is done represents a composite of these conflicting theories a compromise between their extremes.

That compromising has its pitfalls, however, is often brought to mind by the results which follow alliances of reform elements with political parties for the purpose on the part of the reformers of obtaining small concessions rather than none at all. In the majority of cases these prove to be mesalliances, and the history of the fight against the liquor traffic is replete with instances where the prohibition forces have gravely jeopardized their position by "compromising" with political elements for the sake of gaining the semblance of a victory.

A CASE OF TOO MUCH COMPROMISE.

The ethics of such arrangements is open to argument but in their purely practical aspects they appear to be unprofitable largely, in all probability, because in comparison with the average politician the average reformer is a decidedly unsophisticated creature. An instance of this was called to the attention of the reformers, who have been meeting in Washington, by a former racetrack gambler named Brolaskie who has been giving a Congressional committee much valuable information on the subject of pool selling and bookmaking. The compromise made by the reformers when they were seeking to close up the Indiana racetracks, he said, made it possible for the operators to race six months a year in defiance of law.

Compromising, the President might well have taken pains to point out, ceases to be valuable when it involves making terms with evildoers. There is in the moral world no compromise between good and evil and the theory that profit will come from trying to harmonize intrinsically hostile points of view is untenable. Reform movements, to be effective must keep themselves free from the charge of sacrificing principle for the sake of achieving an immediate object.

TOO APPROPRIATE.

From the Washington Star.

John W. Gates has returned from Europe, convinced that European investors have decided the United States to be the safest place to invest their money in.

"Foreign investors," said Mr. Gates in a recent interview, 'find money and America as appropriate to one another as the dead man and the quotation were appropriate to one another in a Matawan funeral.

"The minister at the funeral quoted about the dead man.

"'He wore the white flower of a blameless life.'

"And the mourners couldn't repress slight smiles at the appropriateness of this quotation, for the deceased had been a baker."

THE OPEN-WINDOW SCHOOLROOM.

From the Chicago Record-Herald.

An open-window room in the Graham school has proved a success during this cold weather. The children are dressed warmly. Their lungs are full of good oxygen. Their bodily heating plants are in good order. They study better, catch cold less frequently and are generally happier than if they were in the ordinary heated rooms.

Old fogies will raise their hands in horror at the thought. But anybody who has tried sleeping out of doors say in such weather as that of the last few days knows that it is easy to keep warm and that the hardships are none at all, while the compensations are many.

A recent writer on medical subjects says that, so far as adults who sleep outdoors are concerned, little is to be remarked except that they enjoy it and are comparatively free from colds; but that as to children who sleep outdoors they are entirely different creatures.

The open-window schoolroom for warmly dressed children has all the advantages of open-air sleeping, with the added advantage that it is easily practicable, whereas open-air sleeping places are not practicable for any large proportion of city dwellers.

TWO KINDS OF CITIZENS.

From the New York Times.

In an authoritative interview regarding the decision of the federal court dissolving the Standard Oil trust, Mr. William Rockefeller was reported as saying.

"I want to say as a large stockholder that however the case eventuates there will be no unwillingness to comply fully, not only with the letter, but the spirit of the law, as it shall be settled by the supreme court."

He could say neither less nor more. The attitude of this corporation is particularly edifying to those suffering less provocation, and yet demeaning themselves more truculently. Compare Mr. Rockefeller's attitude of submission to the law, without a word of criticism of judges or law, with the attitude of the labor trust and its spokesman. Mr. Gompers' misconduct is too recent and flagrant to need anything more than simple mention. But it should not be forgotten that he was unanimously re-elected after the federation had adopted a formal report of approval of procedure striking at the root of the authority of the courts and therefore at the basis of law and order. It can be left to all to draw the moral for themselves.

ONE CAUSE OF HIGH BEEF PRICES.

From the Chicago Tribune.

The agricultural department has been investigating the price of beef in the large cities of the country. It finds that the retail cost charged to consumers above the wholesale price ranges from 17 per cent in Baltimore to 46 per cent in Chicago. The lower the grade of beef the greater the percentage of profit. It should follow, therefore, that the proportionate consumption of that kind of beef must be greater in Chicago than in New York, where the retailer's gross profit is only 20 per cent.

Chicago housewives will say that they know how why beef is so dear. They will exonerate the wholesaler and fall foul of the local butcher with his 46 per cent of gross profit. But the retailers betray no symptoms of great wealth. Every now and then one of them fails in business. Most of them, indeed, make little more than a living. The truth is there are so many of them that they must make a big profit on what they sell in order to keep going. As the agricultural department justly observes, "When twenty or more small shops divide the retail business within an area that could be served by one large shop the expenses of the many shops for labor, horses, rent and other things that are in excess of what would be sufficient for the one shop must go into the retail prices of the meat sold."

It is a convenience for lazy or busy housekeepers to have a meat market within a block or two. It is a convenience to have the butcher call for orders. It is a convenience to have him deliver meat instead of lugging it home in a market basket. But for all such conveniences those who have the good of them must pay. If Chicago were served by a few central markets and all consumers took their purchases home after the old fashion there would undoubtedly be a fall in the retail price of meats.

But the old fashion will not return. The leisurely, critical, judicious marketing of the past is ended. People order meat, vegetables and fruit by telephone because it saves time. When the bill comes in they scold about the high prices and often about the inferior quality.

VACUUM STREET CLEANERS.

From the San Francisco Chronicle.

Labor-saving machinery, which has done so much for manufacturing and farming, has been slow in its application to street cleaning. The man with the broom and the man with the cart control the business with the occasional aid of a wagon-brush, the whole process being about as crude as was the preparation of the soil for crops before the day of the steam plow and of their harvesting before the era of the mowing machine and the reaper and binder. We clean streets generally by the primitive way of large cost at least we pretend to clean them but a larger percentage of the dirt stirred up merely whirls off in the form of dust to deposit itself further along the street or in houses. The system makes thorough street cleaning impossible, the only excuse for it is the lame one of political patronage.

Science says it is practicable to do all street cleaning rapidly, noiselessly and effectively, and New York is about to test the claim by trying the vacuum cleaning method which has made itself so acceptable indoors. An automobile tank truck fitted with the vacuum devices simply travels along the city highways collecting the dirt and carrying it to a place of deposit, doing, meanwhile, the work of a hundred men. Dust is not stirred up, it is caught instead by the tremendous suction apparatus and stored away, with the result that the thoroughfare treated is clean and the work has been done so cheaply that street-cleaning bills cease to be classed among the most important in the city estimates.

Paris has tried the vacuum method with success outdoors as well as indoors, and Mayor-elect McCarthy's "Paris of America" might find it as profitable as the parent city has or as New York expects to do. The thing looks like an enterprise that would be much more satisfactory to the people than the acquiring and running a municipal railroad, and much more compatible with the objects which a municipality is supposed to serve.

REVOLUTION BELOW STAIRS IS PLANNED IN ENGLAND.

Special London Correspondence of The Star.

English housewives will soon be commiserating with their American sisters over the servant question. Under the cloak of a newly established domestic servants trade union an attempt is being made to convert domestics to socialism, which, if successful, will vitiate no doubt the proverbial perfection of the English servant.

There is a wide difference at present between the autocrat of an American household and the maid in an English home. The vocabulary, for instance, of the latter is limited to "Sorry," "Please, miss" and "Yes m," while the former is at liberty to use "Say," 'D know' or a grunt. The union expects to effect the emancipation of the English maid.

This red flag campaign below stairs has been organized by Miss Kathlyn Oliver. Miss Oliver is a domestic worker herself in the family of a bishop.

Regarding her mistress Miss Oliver says.

"I rejoice in her employ. She allows or rather encourages me to attend a college, of which she is the principal. I may take up any subjects I care to, and I do not think I am less satisfactory as a domestic because I endeavor to cultivate what mind I have. I know I am far happier and more contented than when I had not this opportunity.

"We must widen the interests of domestics; we must raise the standard, and I think that a servants' trade union will help to do this.

"A domestic should be encouraged to feel as independent as the worker in any other sphere, and, therefore, as worthy of consideration and respect. And this leads me to ask why servants are always addressed by their Christian names! The barmaid, the factory girl, and, indeed, no other worker is subjected to this familiarity, and yet domestic work is better paid than almost any other female labor."

Miss Oliver is quite in accordance with the usages of good society. Servants in the smart set are not called by their Christian names. When you wish Maggie Murphy to take her homely face out of the room the proper form of command is: "I don't think I shall require you, Murphy—just yet."

Miss Oliver repudiates the idea that the union is an attempt to spread socialism and discontent among servants. Nevertheless to employers at least it sounds "beastly democratic." Servants are reminded by the union that "the conscientious domestic worker is entitled to as much respect as the prime minister, who is as much a servant as any despised 'slavey.' In case the servant is "suited" in her place she is told that "a certain proportion of domestic servants are snobbish. They are parasites living on those engaged in the houses of the wealthy and titled loafers."

It is inevitable that Miss Oliver should be deluged with revelations from these parasites of parasites. Jeames writes that he has had 30 years' experience as butler, valet and manservant and believes he could be helpful to Miss Oliver in making out a black list of employers. This list no doubt will be perused eagerly by those out of employment. Mlle. Fougere, parlor maid, writes that she has absolutely no time to herself during the day, from the time she gets up until she goes to bed, "no time even for any personal sewing, much less for any mental cultivation; nothing but work, work, work." It is a curious fact that with the exception of the personal sewing we often hear the same complaints made by members of the stock exchange. Then again Tilda, the "tweeny" maid, writes: "I just can't put on paper some of the things I have to put up with. I'm coming to tell you all."

Little leaflets are distributed in which Miss Oliver says:

"Cheer up, dear girlies; better things are coming, but they will not come unless we all put our shoulder to the wheel. Each member must work for the union and thus the union will wax strong."

There are to be demonstrations in the London parks. Miss Oliver is waiting for some one to promise a banner and for volunteer speakers at a Trafalgar Square demonstration, which is to be held shortly. It is hard to imagine a dignified footman ranting socialistic doctrines in the park to a herd of peevish servants. In fact, Jeames probably wouldn't do it, "e knows 'is place."

THE PLAIN SPEAKER

"I say what I think," said the Tiresome Jay, as he roamed around on his futile way, and the things he said, in our common mon', weren't worth a cent and a half a ton. And folks avoided the Tiresome Jay; they saw him coming and hiked away, they hid in alleys or crawled in holes, or scrambled up to the tops of poles; for things unpleasant, and things that jolt, were sure to come when he shot his bolt. It came to pass that the Tiresome Jay curled up with colic and passed away; and not a soul in the village wept when out 'neath the jimson weeds he slept, and never a citizen heaved a sigh, when the fine large hearse with its plumes went by. For our time is brief, and we've many chores, and we haven't time for the tiresome bores, and we haven't time for the man whose brain is stored with scandals and legends vain, and we haven't time to be fooling round with the man whose sayings will leave a wound. When you go down town where the toilers sweat, say something pleasant, already yet; and hang a smile on your home-grown face and swear this world is the smoothest place! And when you croak, all the village guys will weep till they spavin their blooming eyes!

What the Press Agents Say

LOUIS JAMES

Directly following his week's engagement in Denver, at the Broadway theater, Louis James, the eminent player of classic drama, will be seen in this city for one night only, when he will present his elaborate revival of "Henry VIII," by Shakespeare. Despite the fact that Mr. James is playing Denver during Christmas week, which is considered the worst week in the entire theatrical season financially, the advance sale is one of the largest of the season, and every indication from the box office daily, the advance sale is one of the largest of the season, and every indication points to a most successful week financially as well as artistically.

Miss Adele James is leading lady for Louis James this season as she has been for several years past. She will be seen as Queen Katharine in "Henry VIII." Long association with Mr. James has developed Miss James until she is recognized as one of the most promising of the younger actresses on the stage. Those critics who are known as conservative men, and whose criticisms have great weight with those who know what true dramatic values are in dramatic art, say that Miss James will some day be the greatest Shakespearean actress on the American stage, and that right now there is no actress who can equal her in many of her parts.

Queen Katharine is one of the most queenly queens Shakespeare ever portrayed. Regal, noble, brilliant pure and true are but a few of the characteristics that mark this unusual woman. And, above all, she is most human, which cannot be said about all the queens we read of or see on the stage. Queen Katharine, in "Henry VIII," is shown as the victim of Wolsey's unbounded ambition. The crafty cardinal prejudices the king against her to the point where the king divorces her. Even in her trouble she is majestic, and bears her sufferings as only such a woman could. Miss James is the youngest actress that has ever played the role, and her success is nothing short of phenomenal, according to the reviews of the press where she has appeared.

ANNA EVA FAY A MARVELOUS WOMAN

Today brings to a close one of the best bills the Majestic has ever had, but next week, beginning with Monday's matinee, Manager Tammen offers the local public what is probably the greatest single attraction in vaudeville in the whole world—Anna Eva Fay, the marvelous mystic.

Miss Fay for years has demonstrated occult powers, so inexplicable on the ground of any of the known laws of physical or psychic science that she has been studied in vain by many of the greatest scientists of the world. And her powers are growing more wonderful instead of less so as time goes on.

The features of Miss Fay's performance which appeals with greatest force to the average spectator is her answering of questions written by members of the audience on cards held in their own hands and seen only by themselves. This is mental telepathy of the most amazing character and an explanation of it is yet to be advanced unless it be that she actually reads the thoughts of others or senses the vibrations in her own mind. This feat will be performed by her at every show next week. Prices, however, no more than usual.

CHRISTMAS AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The Christmas offering at the Opera House will be high-class vaudeville of four feature acts and three other numbers, brought specially to this city for this engagement. The vaudeville will open Wednesday matinee and will continue through Christmas night, with one performance each afternoon and two performances each night.

The big feature will be the Primrose quartet, which the Chicago press declared was the finest act of its kind ever offered in Chicago. This quartet has appeared only in the largest cities, and this marks its first appearance in a city of this size. Last season it played at the Orpheum in Denver, where it is headed for now. The management of the Opera House was able to obtain it for this city only after putting up a very large guarantee. This quartet takes a feature of old minstrel songs, popular ballads, and the like.

The second big feature of the bill is "Doc" O'Neil, with his college stories, songs and parodies. O'Neil is direct from the east, where he has been appearing with great success on the Keith-Proctor circuit. His monologue is said to be a "scream of laughter" without a minute's let up.

The Mozarts are the third of the four-feature bill. Manager Nye is presenting. These people will introduce their snow-shoe dance, which was the sensation of last year's vaudeville season in New York, holding a record for long metropolitan engagements second only to that of Eva Tanguay.

Mr. and Mrs. Allison, long featured with big metropolitan productions on the legitimate stage, will be seen in "Minnie From Minnesota," a new comedy from the pen of one of America's most noted playwrights, but whose name is withheld.

Other acts will be announced later, but the above four feature acts show what Manager Nye is going to present his patrons next week.

SIX BIG PICTURES AT THE CRYSTAL THIS CHANGE FENTON OF THE 42D.

Capt. Fenton of the "42d" and his men are detailed to patrol the Mexican border on the lookout for smugglers. The ranch on which they have camped is owned by an ugly-looking Mexican as ever smoked a cigarette and drank mescal, and presided over by his sister, who is as pretty as he is repulsive. At the request of the sister Capt. Fenton makes his headquarters at the ranch house and gains the hatred of her Mexican lover by promptly falling in love with her. While on a night ride through the country, Fenton is shot by the jealous suitor is nursed back to health by the beautiful sister and while convalescing, declares his love which she reciprocates.

Shortly after, two smugglers are seen sneaking through the lines. One is shot in attempting to escape and the other captured after a long chase. The captured smuggler is brought to Fenton as he is enjoying a tete-a-tete with his lady love, and proves to be her brother. Fenton's struggle between love and duty is graphically shown when the girl, on bended knee, pleads for her brother's freedom. Duty to his country conquering, his sweetheat denounces him and sends him away. That night she rescues her brother from the soldiers under Fenton. They take refuge in the hut of a friend, and when surrounded fight until their friend is killed and the brother mortally wounded. The defense of the hut is one of the most thrillingly dramatic scenes ever witnessed, the girl aiding the besieged men by loading their guns and revolvers and supporting them when, weak from loss of blood, they are on the point of collapse. The acting at this point is so terribly real that the spectator will suddenly forget that he is gazing at a theatrical production instead of an actual struggle for life, and his sympathy for the girl who is battling for her brother's life will know no bounds.

ALLEGED TO HAVE STOLEN HIS BENEFACTOR'S RING.

The generosity of Young Tillman a local lightweight pugilist resulted last Tuesday night in the theft of his diamond ring, valued at $125. Ed. Howard, who is accused of the theft, and for whose arrest a warrant was last night issued in Justice Dunnington's court, was given employment by Tillman a short time ago at his athletic club. Howard was arrested shortly after the ring was missed and locked up in the city jail. He was removed last night to the county jail.

When Howard arrived in town, he was "broke" and friendless. Tillman kindly gave him work. "Never again" says the lightweight when he thinks of his missing ring.

JERRY JOHNSON HAS BALANCE OF $41,000

Special to The Gazette

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo, Dec 17.—The stockholders of the Jerry Johnson Gold Mining company today received checks for the Christmas dividend of $25 000, payable to all stockholders of record on December 10, at the rate of 1 cent per share

Accompanying the dividend checks, a card bearing the signature of President and General Manager A. P. Mackey informed the shareholders that after paying the dividend there remained in the treasury $38 000 and ore in transit that would return the estimated sum of $3,000 in royalties to the company making a cash balance on hand of about $41,000.

The property operated under lease by Edwin Gaylord of Denver has made a remarkable record for the present year Over $250,000 of ore has been mined and shipped from the Ironclad hill mine the Jerry Johnson, since February, 1909, and it is producing at the rate of two cars daily at present. The Gaylord mill on the Jerry Johnson is further treating about 50 tons daily of low grade mine and dump ores.

Shipments were loaded out by team today from three shafts on the estate of the Mary McKinney Mining company, operated by lessees Smith and Altman, lessees at the Howard shaft on Gold hill, were completing a two-car shipment of medium grade ore The Union Leasing company was loading out a car each of screenings and coarse quartz from the Birch shaft and lessees at the Pressler shaft were also loading out a two-car shipment. The last two named shafts are situated on Raven hill, and the ore shipped will average close to $30 a ton.

The ore mined from the workings of the main shaft by the Western Investment company of Victor, the company's lessee, is loaded direct into the cars and is running close to 30 tons a day.

Ore movements were practically impossible today, excepting for the mines located upon the direct line of the railroads or connected therewith by switch A large force of men has been put to work making the ore roads available, but in every instance where an attempt was made to haul ore today, the teams required doubling up. The snow lies on the hills fully two feet deep, and the fall is unprecedented at this time of the year.

STOCK MARKET DULL; GOLD EXPORTS FEARED

Increase in Louisville and Nashville Dividend Stimulates Some Shares.

NEW YORK Dec 17—A state of neglect such as the stock market fell into today is sometimes ascribed to "holiday dullness" It was not entirely free today from a feeling of disquiet as being due possibly to some unfavorable factor underlying the situation

The continued strength of the foreign exchange kept attention on the possibility of gold exports Additional gold was engaged for shipment to South America next week on London account, but larger interest centers in the question of shipments to London direct The conduct of the political campaign is expected to prolong the strain in London beyond the end of the year What may be the effect on the New York market becomes of renewed interest in view of the expected large requirements during January for subscription to new capital offerings

The promise of a substantial increase for the week in New York's cash in banks was grateful and the appearance of the preliminary estimates of the week's current movement was followed by a decided show of strength in stocks The banks have gathered, apparently from the interior and from the subtreasury, upwards of $7 800,000

The effect of the increase in the Louisville & Nashville dividend proved more stimulating than did the Reading increase Not only did that stock itself advance, but the Atlantic Coast line benefited from its holdings of a majority of the Louisville & Nashville stock, while its collateral bonds jumped full 10 points The movement gave rise to surmises of a redemption of the bonds to release the stock, as was done in the case of Rock Island's holding of St. Louis & San Francisco stock. The bonds subsequently fell back several points without touching the redemption price, which is 105

Supplies offered in the money market increased largely after the publication of the week's currency movement. Large sums were placed on call at 4 per cent, The bid price on 90 days and six months' loans fell to 4¼ per cent. This was considered the more significant in view of the payment due tomorrow of a $35,000,000 installment on subscriptions to new Pennsylvania stock.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $6,949,000 United States 2s, coupon, advanced ⅛ and the registered ⅛ per cent on call

MINERS WANT BONDS IN LIEU OF WARRANTS.

DENVER, Dec. 17—Having been unable thus far to induce Auditor Kenehan to draw a warrant for the $60 000 appropriated to cover damage done the Western Federation of Miners stores in the Cripple Creek strike of 1904, attorney for the Federation today presented a demand to the state auditing board that they be paid from the bond fund Governor Shafroth has taken the proposition under advisement

BULLS ARE RAMPANT ON CHICAGO BOARD

Become Excited Over Argentine Crop Prospects—Wheat Takes New High Record.

CHICAGO Dec 17—Wheat prices advanced to new high records for the crop here today, owing to rumors of a crop shortage in Argentina The December delivery at one time sold at $1 17⅛ per bushel The top for May was reached at $1 13⅞. Corn and oats failed to respond to the bulge in wheat, the former closing easy and the latter steady. Provisions were moderately firm at the close

Extreme bullishness prevailed in the wheat pit December was exceedingly strong selling between $1 15½ and $1 17½. the top point today being 2⅛c above the previous high mark for the season. May sold between $1 11⅞ and $1.13⅞, the new high point being 1⅛ below the former record

An advance of 1⅞ to 2⅛c in the price of wheat at Buenos Ayres seemed to confirm the fears of a partial failure of the crop, while a bulge of ⅜ to 1⅜d at Liverpool reflected the feeling of English traders regarding the possibilities of shortage in the world's supply Prices declined a trifle in the final hour, but the close, however, was strong, with prices up 1⅛ to 2c, compared with the final figures of the previous session. December closed at $1 16⅞ and May at $1 12⅞@1 13

Corn was weak, notwithstanding the unusual strength of wheat Prices closed ⅛ to ⅜ lower.

Trading in oats was quiet. The weakness of corn had a depressing effect. The market closed steady, with prices a shade higher to ¼ lower.

Provisions closed unchanged to 12½c higher.

HOLIDAY TRADE HELPED BY SEASONABLE WEATHER

Bradstreet's Reports Retail Business Good and Industrial Operations Active.

NEW YORK, Dec 17—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say

Retail and holiday trade has been helped by seasonable weather and the approach of Christmas and makes good comparisons with preceding years a few markets, in fact reporting a record turnover for the season Best reports come from the north and west but southern trade also shows expansion

Jobbing trade reports are cheerful with especial stress upon the volume of reasserting demand and to fill broken stocks

In many lines of raw material there is a tendency to quiet down or to postpone buying until after the new year but it is to be noted that, while iron and steel are rather quiet so far as new business is concerned and pig iron shows weakness the volume of specifications on orders expiring with the year is very dull. Industrial operations are still very active on old orders

The northwestern switchmen's strike still interrupts trade in the sections affected

Business failures in the United States for the week ending December 16 were 273, against 259 last week, 311 in the same week of 1908, 300 in 1907, 227 in 1906, and 236 in 1905.

Business failures in Canada for the week number 33, which contrasts with 30 last week and 21 in the same week of 1908.

The greatest danger from influenza is of its resulting in pneumonia This can be obviated by using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, as it not only cures influenza, but counteracts any tendency of the disease towards pneumonia. Sold by all dealers.

SHOW ENDS TONIGHT; LAST AWARDS MADE

Local chicken fanciers re delighted with the success of the Pikes Peak Poultry association show being held in the Durkee building, and declare Judge A. B. Shaner, who has completed his work and returned to his home in Lanark, Ill., to be the most popular judge that the association has had for the last 10 years.

Mr. Shaner is a licensed poultry judge, and a member of the American Poultry association. He is a breeder of Barred Plymouth Rocks, and is considered an expert on all breeds of chickens. Never before have the scores mounted up so nearly to the perfect 100 as this year, when points around 95, and one even as high as 96½, were tallied.

The cold weather yesterday visibly affected the attendance, and the receipts dropped materially from those of the previous days. On Wednesday more attended than have ever been present during a single day at any show the association has given.

The principal business yesterday was the distribution of the various premiums given by the merchants of the city. Secretary H. H. Chase desires that all persons entitled to any of these, who have not received them, call on him at the show today. The exhibit will remain open until 10 o'clock tonight. A majority of the fowls will be returned to their owners Sunday.

The last of the awards were announced yesterday, as follows:

G. W. Vedits wins the Colorado Springs Printing Pressmen's silver cup for the largest and best display in the Mediterranean class, together with the Guggenheim cup for largest and best display of barred Plymouth Rocks.

COLO. COLLEGE GLEE CLUB RETURNS FOR ONE DAY.

The Colorado College Glee Club returned yesterday morning from Cripple Creek and Victor, where they gave concerts the last two nights. The club left last night for Pueblo, and will make the following itinerary: Trinidad, December 18; Monte Vista, December 20; Alamosa, December 21; Canon City, December 22; Florence, December 23.
